

Culture Arcade: Virtual Reality Volunteers Wanted

On 30 August, Culture Arcade opens at the Prince Claus Fund Gallery in Amsterdam. Culture Arcade is an interactive exhibition and game room, featuring games with cultural themes that offer creative insights into the value of cultural heritage around the world. Also exhibited in Culture Arcade are sci-fi works by Omar Gilani, a young digital artist from Pakistan, whose imagination takes his country into a fantasy future.

The VALUE Foundation and the Prince Claus Fund are looking for two volunteers to help visitors of the Culture Arcade engage with Gilani's 3D digital artworks and Minecraft reconstructions in virtual reality. Your work will entail helping visitors put on the Oculus Rift headset and operate the touch controllers, ensuring their physical safety and stability while they are virtually engaged.

Requirements

- Fluent in both Dutch and English
- Affinity with games
- Understanding of or willingness to learn about VR and the Oculus Rift
- Friendly, welcoming, and patient, towards visitors of all ages

Time & Place

Culture Arcade will be open from 30 August – 12 October 2018 in the Prince Claus Fund Gallery, Herengracht 603, Amsterdam. The opening hours for the general public will be Wednesday & Thursday afternoons (13:00-17:00) and Saturdays (10:00-17:00). The two volunteers will work in a schedule so that one of them is always present during the days that Culture Arcade is open for the general public.

Compensation

For 8 days of volunteer work in Culture Arcade, the Prince Claus Fund offers financial compensation of €100,-

To apply, please send a motivational letter to info@value-foundation.org In the accompanying email, be sure to include your contact details, language skills, and (if known) your time availability.
